Commissions and Special Orders:

*The pieces can be designed to withstand almost all types of weather, including freezing, very hot, very windy, salt air, and even dusty conditions. This is due to the construction and materials:

- Inside is reinforced with 304 (aircraft strength) stainless
- Any brass and copper used is marine alloy and thick walled this will patina with time, creating a verdigris which actually strengthens and protects the metal
- the coloration on most of the pieces is copper enamel, a process which actually fuses a glass coating to the metal, and which will not fade or peel
- The pieces are fitted with aircraft components, which are shielded, stainless, and internally lubricated. Lubrication is not generally required. They are the highest quality. If at any time lubrication would be required, an inline skate product is recommended.

Pieces which are made to order can be made to different heights and can mount on different kinds of stands to fit the needs of the site. Other variations, such as color, size, and sensitivity to the wind can also be tailored to fit the needs of the site, and should be discussed with the Artist when commissioning.

When a piece is being commissioned, the Artist and the client will discuss a time line for completing the work. If for any reason outside of the Artist's control, completion or delivery of the work is delayed, the Artist will notify Client as soon as such delay is foreseen. A 50% deposit on the retail price is required to initiate a sale, and a deposit is considered a commitment to purchase. On occasion, a Client may wish to cancel an order. If notice is given to the artist within the first two weeks following such sale, and if materials have not yet been bought, and production has not yet commenced, the Artist may issue a refund check for the amount of the deposit less a 5% cancellation fee. Thereafter, no refunds would be generally available, except in such cases as the Artist might fail to produce said piece, or fulfill the terms of the commission agreement, or at the Artist's own discretion.

On all works, the balance of price will be due at or near completion, and the applicable sales tax will be due when Client is in possession of the work. Other services, such as consultation, shipping, delivery, or installation, etc., are separate costs, to be handled on a case by case basis with each commission.
